

A close-up portrait of a woman with light brown hair and blue eyes, wearing a blue denim shirt. The background is blurred.

Clarissa Hoffmann

Smart, strong, slightly icy (Eastern) European or American woman with a questionable moral compass. Someone who appears trustworthy, but may not be. A hard worker, someone who is fierce in her convictions. FBI/Doctor/Lawyer/Operative/Femme Fatale.

[DELILAH] 20s, Mysterious woman. Delilah's motives and origins are murky, but although we aren't certain who she's working for, she's a deadly international operator who prides herself on never leaving a "client" unsatisfied.

[ALEX] 25, pretty, driven, tenacious, with a somewhat turbulent past she'd like to keep in the past, Alex is an NAT (New Agent Trainee) at Quantico, hoping to make the grade as an FBI Agent. Fueled by a desire to clear up unresolved issues concerning her family, Alex proves her mettle as a capable, quick-thinking, physically adept candidate. However, Alex soon finds herself in a race to save her life.

[KATIE] late 20s. A young grade-school teacher, survivor of an abusive relationship, single mother to her son and student, Quentin. Katie throws her life into her job to avoid dealing with the stress of her former relationship, taking care of kids even better than she takes care of herself. She and her class are forced to stay inside the quarantine after a school field trip puts them at risk of exposure. Stuck inside the walls of Emory University Midtown Hospital, ground zero for research on this extremely deadly virus, she must do everything in her power to protect her students, her son, and herself.